

Where on the mountain are your learning programs?

Problems engaging learners may lie with ways that training activities are positioned at a fundamental level. If a program's not 'high' enough, learning may misfire.

